POLES RECAPTURE 10,000 MILES FROM THE BOLSHEVIKI

CONTINUE OFFENSIVE AGAINST THE BOLSHEVIKI, DRIVING
THEM BACK EVERYWHERE

(United Press)

Warsaw, Aug. 20.—The Polish army continuing their offensive have retaken nearly ten thousand square miles of territory from the bolsheviks, it was officially announced today.

The Polish advance in the direction of East Prussia is developing swiftly, the communique said.

"West of Lubin and southeast of Warsaw, the Poles have recaptured two thousand square miles of territory, advancing to a depth of forty miles. East of Warsaw we captured more than seven thousand square miles, advancing fifty miles on a 125 mile front."

Bolsheviks Claim There is Fighting 20 Miles From Warsaw

Moscow, Aug. 21.—Fighting is progressing less than twenty miles from Warsaw, the Russian official communique claimed today. The statement indicated the Polish capital was still threatened on the east, north and northwest.

Poles Take 15,000 Bolshevik Prisoners

Paris, Aug. 21.—The Poles had taken fifteen thousand bolshevik prisoners up to Tuesday, the French foreign office announced today. Yesterday they captured an additional three hundred in occupying Gienany.

Fierce fighting was reported to be in progress along the River Bug, near Hrest-Litovsk, also in the vicinity of Crechanof and Plansk.

Poles Reach Vistula

Unofficial dispatches from Warsaw today indicated that the Polish drive east of Warsaw has reached the Vistula on the front of nearly two hundred miles between Belsk and Cholm after moving northward and pushing toward Grodna, the new bolshevik headquarters.

Russian Cavalry Open Attack to Capture Lemberg

Warsaw, August 21.—The Russians have been driven back from Warsaw at least thirty miles at all points, an official communique reported today.

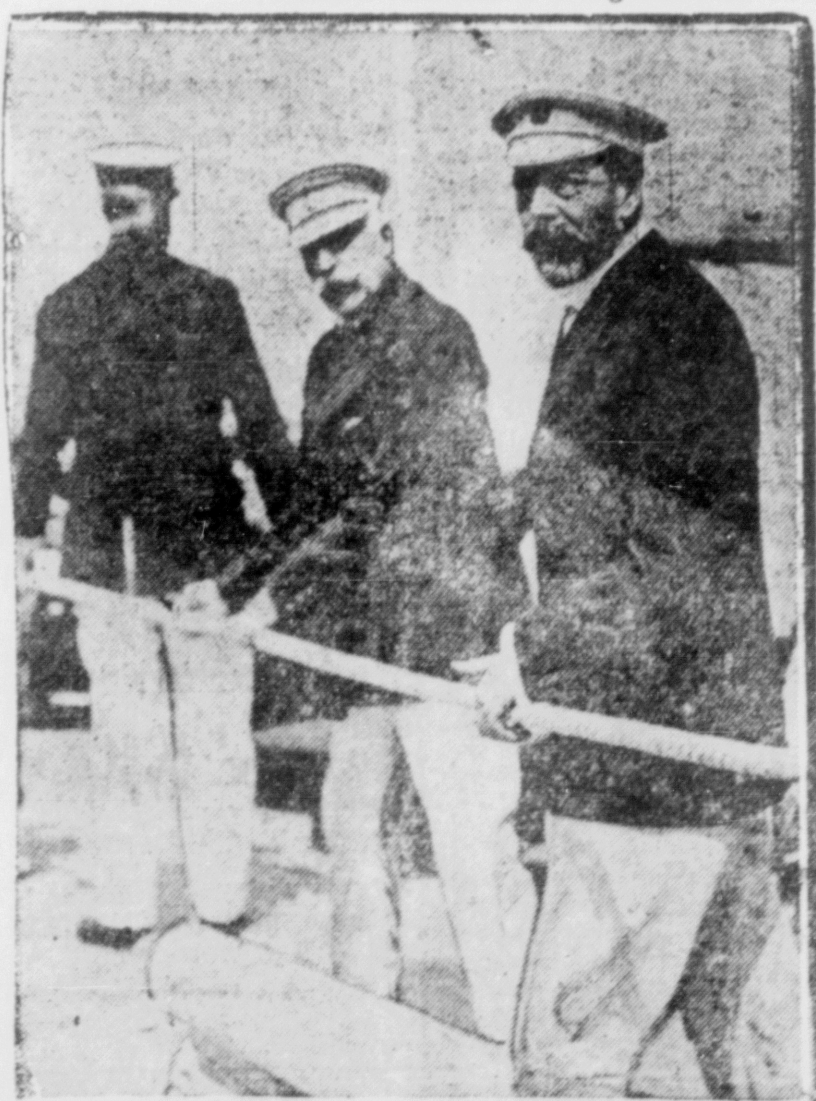

"General Budeny's Russian cavalry has opened an attack to capture Lemberg and has approached to within fifteen miles of that city."

Polish progress to the southeastward of Warsaw continues. There are now no Russians within thirty miles of the capital.

LIQUID WEALTH HARD TO LIQUIDATE

CHICAGO HEIRS HAVE THE GOODS
BUT CAN'T REALIZE THE CASH LEGALLY

(By United Press)

Chicago, Aug. 21.—Liquid wealth, hard to liquidate, was the problem of the heirs of G. F. Griffin, who left a wine cellar valued at $19,499, pre-war prices. The stock is valued at not less than $75,000, according to present prices.

Legal analysis of the state and federal prohibition rules resulted in an order that Griffin's heirs cannot sell the wine and liquor. The cellar goes with the home. Many have licked their lips in prospect of purchasing it, but the necessity for buying the surrounding estate valued at $1,500,000 has frightened them off.

The cellar contains fourteen hundred quarts of stock, thirteen hundred quarts of bourbon and around that is a stock of wet goods of every variety of liquor.

RIOTING REPORTED IN WESTPHALIA

(By United Press)

Amsterdam, Aug. 21.—Communist rioting is spreading through Westphalia, according to reports received here today.

A soviet republic was proclaimed in Velbert yesterday. A general rebellion of miners is feared.

ROAD RACE POSTPONED BECAUSE OF RAINS

(United Press)

Elgin, Ill., Aug. 21.—The 250 mile Elgin road race was postponed today until next Saturday because of rain.

ANTI-SUFFS TRY TO BLOCK RATIFICATION

INJUNCTION OBTAINED TO RE-STRAIN OFFICIALS FROM COMPLETING RATIFI-CATION

(United Press)

Nashville, Aug. 21.—In the midst of parliamentary debate suffrage members of the lower house of the Tennessee legislature this afternoon voted against reconsideration of the resolution ratifying the suffrage amendment. Anti-suffragist members contended no quorum was present and therefore it was impossible to transact legislative business. A vote was taken and there were fifty ayes.

Supporters of the suffragist rank a "liberty bell" contending that they had won.

The vote was taken amid confusion: anti-suffragists contending that the house was not legally in session at all.

By viva voce vote the house then moved to adjourn until Monday.

Before adjournment the house voted to return the resolution to the senate where it originated—a technical step.

The end of the session found anti-suffragists still contending that the action taken was not legal.

Many of the anti-suffragist members had absented themselves so there would be no quorum and final action would be delayed until anti-suffragists had time to line up enough votes to overturn ratification.

The anti-suffragists who were on hand protested vehemently until adjournment and there was much confusion on the floor and in the galleries.

Suffrage opponents declared they had blocked completion of ratification anyway by obtaining from Judge Neuman an injunction temporarily restraining Governor Roberts, Speakers Todd and Walker from certifying ratification to the state department at Washington.

U. S. GOV'T. IS GATH- ERING PROOF OF GER- MAN-RUSS ALLIANCE

A. L. BRADFORD

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Aug. 21.—The United States government is gathering circumstantial evidence of an alliance or understanding between Germany and Soviet Russia, it was learned today.

While Washington has some proof of such activities, additional reports indicate it exists. However, the strictest secrecy is observed as to the nature of these reports.

The government is quietly conducting a searching investigation to determine whether an alliance exists between the two countries.

FISHING IN BOYHOOD DAYS

Glorious Time When Mother Kept
Supper and Praised the Five Little Sunfish.

The city man who was the country boy of yesterday closes his eyes a few minutes and lives over again a summer afternoon of long ago, notes the Milwaukee Journal. A day when his little crowd, equipped with enough worms to feed a school of fish, betook itself to the pond where it was annually reported and fervently believed the big bass were hiding.

They didn't get big bass. Bites came slowly, and those they landed were little sunfish. Is there anywhere in any lake a muskie big enough to give him as great a thrill as those little sunfish? He was late to supper, but there was supper kept for him. And mother didn't scold. She was pleased as punch, and told him to hurry and clean the fish, and she would cook them. And she did.

No other grown person praised his catch. In all the world he and mother alone recognized how worth while those five little sunfish were. And yet it didn't seem wonderful that she didn't ask him where the bass were. That was what other people did.

It was a wonderful day, but as he looks back on it, he sees that the wonderful thing was not the little string of "boy's fish," but the mother who was so pleased that she stood over a hot stove cooking them. How glad she was to do it. How happy she would be if she could do it again, today. But she lives too far away now.

We wonder if he remembers to write and tell her of his discovery—his discovery that mother's heart was big enough to make his little fish a splendid catch.

RUSSIANS SUBMIT ARMISTICE TERMS

(United Press)

Moscow, Wireless via London, Aug. 21.—Russian and Polish commissioners ended their second session yesterday, it was announced today. The Russians submitted terms which were identical to those transmitted to Lloyd George. The soviet representatives protested that Poland was purposely dragging out the negotiations.

Russians Made Additional Demands in Peace Terms

WEBB MILLER.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
London, Aug. 21.—Additional demands have been made upon the Poles by Russia, according to the terms submitted Thursday at Minsk and made public here by M. Kameneff, bolshevik trade commissioner. The demands that had not hitherto been made public included:

Creation of Polish civic militia composed of workers to be armed with surplus ammunition demanded from Poland by Russia. (A hint of the government's specific demands was contained in an open speech of M. Danishevsky, chief of the soviet armistice commission, who pointed out that such a militia body could be depended on not to take up arms against the bolsheviks.)

Poland shall not allow troops of any foreign state to enter or remain in Polish territory.

Poland shall return all rolling stock, cattle and other material removed from Russian territory.

Aside from these demands, they were precisely the same as those submitted to Lloyd George several days ago which he advised the Poles to accept. The most important of these were:

Recognition of Poland's full acceptance by Russia and Ukraine.

Renunciation of any former indemnity from Poland.

Establishment of Russian and Polish frontiers as mapped out by Foreign Secretary Curzon with additional territorial concession to the Poles east of Cholm and the seas.

Reduction of the Polish army to sixty thousand to be supplemented by civic militia.

Cessation of hostilities seventy-two hours after armistice negotiations are accepted. Polish to retire thirty-three miles west of the battle line and the intermediate territory be neutralized.

Distribution of lands given to families of Polish citizens killed or disabled during the war. Free transportation of Russians and Russian goods across Polish territory.

NEEDED WINE TO CHRISTEN BABY— IS FINED $200.00

(United Press)

Duluth, Aug. 21.—Three barrels of raisin mash and two gallons of moonshine found in the home of Mike Glusich, caused his arrest and trial. He said he needed the wine to christen a new born baby. Judge Cant fined him $200.

"Humph! Three barrels of mash—enough for a baptism let alone christening," said the judge.

G. O. P. PLANS NEW PROJECT FOR WORLD PEACE

ELIHU ROOT IS NOW ABROAD
REPRESENTING U. S. DEVELOPING THE PLAN

RAYMOND CLAPPER.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Marion, Ohio, Aug. 21.—Behind the scenes leaders of the republican party are framing in detail a new project for international peace, it was understood today.

World prominent figures of Europe are said to be working in full co-operation on the plan. This scheme elaborated in full will be hauled out on the political stage during the campaign, according to present plans. Elihu Root, representing the United States abroad, on the project, now is expected to return before long with an outline of the entire plan.

This is Senator Harding's answer to democratic charges that he favors staying out of the league of nations.

Harding and his advisors in this manner, plan to take into full account the desire of American voters for some rules of international co-operation to lessen the danger of war.

They will continue vigorously to oppose entering the present league as framed at Paris, but they will just as emphatically demand for the organization of a new association based on the plan they intend to present during the campaign, it was said here.

AMERICANS WIN OLYMPIC CONTESTS

HENRY FARRELL.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Antwerp, Aug. 21.—A new Olympic record for the three thousand meter walk was established today by Frigerio of Italy, who negotiated the distance in thirteen minutes and fourteen and one-fifth seconds.

America, believed to have had the best chance of winning the hop, skip and jump, could do no better than fourth place in that event today. Limloc of Finland, won the jump.

America won both first and second places in tossing the fifty-six pound weight.

In the trial of four hundred meter relay the American team finished first in forty-three seconds with Italy second and Spain third.

NO QUORUM PRESENT IN TENNESSEE HOUSE

(United Press)

Nashville, August 21.—When the lower house of the Tennessee legislature met today no business could be transacted because there was no quorum present.

Suffragist advocates charged that anti-suffragist members had left today to delay final action on the motion to reconsider ratification of the suffrage amendment. There were fifty nine members present, seven less than the quorum.

Judge J. B. Neuman issued an injunction to prevent Governor Roberts, Speakers Todd and Walker and Secretary of State Stevens from certifying ratification to the department of state at Washington.

CENSUS FIGURES

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 21.—The census bureau today announced the following 1920 population results by counties:

Lac Qui Parle county, Minn., 15,554, an increase since 1910 of 119, or 8-10 of one per cent; Faribault county, Minn., 29,958, an increase of 1049, or 3.3 per cent; Cottonwood county, Minn., 14,570, a decrease of 919, or 15.2 per cent.

MIRACULOUS CURE HELPLESS WOMAN

HELPLESS, BLIND, DEAF AND DUMB
FOR THE PAST THREE YEARS,
NOW NORMAL

(By United Press)

Waukesha, Wis., Aug. 21.—Mrs. Clara Jorgenson, fifty-eight years old, formerly of Racine, Wis., who for the past three years has been afflicted with a mysterious disease that rendered her helpless, practically speechless and unable to hear, today could talk, see and hear. The case is possibly the most mysterious that has confronted the medical profession of the United States in view of the fact that science has been unable to assist her and today she came from an apparently long trance without help.

Mrs. Jorgenson was admitted to the Waukesha county home in almost a state of coma in December, 1918. She had absolutely no use of her faculties and had been in that condition for a year previous to that time. She continued in that state until yesterday when while she sat in a chair leaning forward and in a slow but even tone began asking about her sister-in-law who came to visit her as did many of her relatives during her stay. She understood answers and for the first time in three years opened her eyes. Dr. Davies, county physician, was called immediately, but could not explain the miracle.

STEAMERS COLLIDE STEAMER SUPERIOR CITY IS SUNK

THIRTY-TWO OF A CREW OF 37
ARE MISSING—FIVE ARE SAVED

(United Press)

Cleveland, Aug. 21.—Thirty-two members of the crew of thirty-seven of the steamer "Superior City" which sank off Sault Ste Marie last night after colliding with the steamer "Willard King," were missing today, according to a statement issued here at noon today by the Pittsburgh Steamship company, owners of the "Superior City." Five members of the crew were known to have been saved, the statement said.

The collision occurred in a fog and the "Superior City" sank in two minutes. The "Willard King" was not badly damaged.

YOUNG MAN ARRESTED ON MURDER CHARGE

(United Press)

Kenosha, Wis., August 21.—Willard Welsh, twenty one years old, former assistant manager of the Pacini Amusement Company, the head of which was Chas. Pacini, who was mysteriously murdered a week ago, was arrested last night and locked in the city jail, it became known today. Police refused to discuss the arrest, and it was said no definite charges had been placed against the young man.

Welsh is Released

Kenosha, Wis., August 21.—Willard Welsh, youthful assistant manager of the Pacini Amusement Company, taken from his home and locked up in the Kenosha county jail last night, was released today. Police said he was taken into custody because he had concealed information that might lead to the apprehension of the slayer of Chas. Pacini.

COX ATTACKS THE REPUBLICAN SENATORS

HERBERT WALKER

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Orville, Ohio, Aug. 21.—"The aim of the republican 'senatorial oligarchy' is to turn the senate and the presidency into a single unit of government," Governor James M. Cox, democratic presidential candidate declared here today in an address.

His speech was in direct reply to a recent front porch speech of Senator W. G. Harding in which the latter Warren G. arding in which the latter that his attacks were directed at the senate as an institution of the government. Harding in a recent speech characterized reactionary isolation from current of public thought and failed to realize this distinction, the governor claimed.

"The relations between the president and congress should be cordial and co-operative, but independence should be supreme," the governor said.

For the fourth time this week Cox has sharply attacked campaign funds of the republicans, referring to the "inflated conduct of gathering together of millions of dollars for campaign purposes."

Japanese Adapt Ideas.

You notice that the Japanese have mastered practically every idea of American and European business methods. They did not secure this information by sending a few salesmen to these countries to offer a few scattered lines of merchandise for the approval of the western world, writes a correspondent of the Washington Post. They sent picked men to this country and to Europe. These men studied conditions and reported back, to instruct others in the knowledge they had gained. Germany pursued much the same methods, and until Kaiser Bill went crazy on the question of world domination and involved the whole civilized world in the holocaust of war the trademark "made in Germany" was familiar in every land.

The United States could well take these countries as an example in this one particular, and in my opinion, the government is the proper organization to back a school for teaching our young men who wish positions abroad all possible facts regarding the people, habits and customs of the particular land in which they propose to help in making "made in America" the most familiar trademark in the world.

Frank J. Loomis

In winning the 400-metre hurdle event at the Olympic games at Antwerp, Frank J. Loomis of the Chicago A. A. lowered the world's record by a full second. His record wrecking time was 54 seconds flat. The mark he bettered was made by C. Bacon, an American, in the London Olympics back in 1908. The formidable Frenchman Andre took the lead near the halfway mark. Loomis running in fourth place let himself out about one hundred yards from the tape and raced Andre into submission.

Although others have profited, he, it is said, has remained a comparatively poor man.

"You have added enormously to the wealth of Canada and every settler is a gainer by your researches," R. Bruce Taylor, president of Queen's university, said in conferring the degree. "What you have done can never be undone."

Coins Handled Automatically.
A tremendous amount of labor is saved daily at the offices of the Detroit street railways by automatic coin-handling machines. A bank of machines handles an average of 200,000 coins each day. The machines are operated by one-third horsepower motors. The coins are placed in hoppers at the top, in all denominations, just as they come from the fare boxes on the cars. Without further attention, battered and badly worn pieces are thrown out and the remaining coins are sorted into their respective denominations. These are accurately counted and properly wrapped in rolls of any desired amounts.

EXTRA FEDERAL TAX COLLECTION

Those Found Guilty of Violating Federal Laws by Engaging in Manufacture of Liquor

WILL HAVE TO PAY ADDED TAX

New Law Went Into Effect on February 24, 1919—Agents Now Operating in Superior

Various range men and others of this county, largely foreigners, who have been charged with making and selling illicit liquor and found guilty in federal court, face heavy taxes as a result of a new law under which the federal agents are now operating in Superior, Wis.

The law went into effect on February 24, 1919. The provision under which the taxes will be levied provides that anyone engaged in the manufacture or sale of liquors in violation of laws or city ordinances shall pay an extra federal tax of $1,000 a year. The tax, as a rule, is estimated on the basis of the portion of the year in which the violator is alleged to have operated.

Federal revenue agents in Superior imposed a tax of $512.50 on August Gerke, Watertown, Wis., the minute after he was fined $1,000 and costs on a liquor charge by Federal Judge Louis FitzHenry. Gerke appealed to the court for a remission of his fine in view of the tax. The judge refused.

Nation-Wide Drive

It is reported that the federal men had secret instructions from Washington to begin imposing the tax, and that federal agents the country over will begin combing police court blotters for 18 months past, and will levy taxes running high in the millions of dollars on those who have been caught at any liquor violation.

The Law

The law under which Gerke was taxed reads as follows:

"Every person carrying on the business of a brewer, distiller, wholesale liquor dealer, retail liquor dealer, wholesaler dealer in malt liquor, retail dealer in malt liquor, or manufacturer of stills, as defined in section 3244 as amended, and section 3247 of the revised statutes, in any state, territory, or district, or in any place therein which carrying on such business is being prohibited by local or municipal law, shall pay, in addition to all other taxes, special or otherwise, imposed by existing law or by this act, $1,000.

"The payment of the tax imposed by this subdivision shall not be held to exempt any person from any penalty or punishment provided for by the laws of any state, territory, or district, or in any manner to authorize the commencement or continuance of such business contrary to the local or municipal laws."

Agent Explains Law

Asked regarding this case I. B. Knutesen, divisional chief of the Superior district of the federal revenue income department, declared that this was the first case that the provision had been invoked in Superior. Regarding the method for ascertaining who is liable for the tax, Mr. Knutesen explained as follows:

"We are permitted to go back over the records of the state, circuit, superior, and municipal courts, and locate the persons who have been arrested and convicted of liquor violations. A case of conviction, or a plea of guilty or nolle prosequere will be considered as prima facie evidence that the tax should be paid. All who forfeited their bail will be considered to have indirectly admitted that the charge is true as in the federal court and practice forfeiture of bail does not absolve the defendant from the penalties growing out of the charge.

"The charge of $1,000 per year is made on the supposition that the tax is paid before the person violating the laws and ordinances engages in business, while in cases where the tax remains unpaid until after business is started, there is a special penalty tax of 25 per cent above the tax stipulated in the act."

To Get $300,000 in Superior

It is also understood that removal from the city does not absolve a person guilty of such violation from the payment of the tax, as federal taxes follow a person wherever he goes as long as he remains a resident of the United States.

Since February 24, 1919, 297 persons have been arrested by the Superior police department on charges of violating the liquor ordinances which would make the tax somewhat less than $297,000, but which with the additional penalty tax will bring the total up to more than $300,000, it is estimated.

Not Guilty

One secret that is not common gossip is the secret of success.

ATTRACTIVE GIFT FOR BABY

Container for Soiled Linens is Easily Made—Same Idea Serves as Wastepaper Basket.

A very useful little inexpensive gift for the new baby is a baby's soiled linen box. Ask your outfitter for a small round hat box about one foot high, and with no lid. Take a piece of rosebud, or some other small design, chintz or printed sateen and cut exactly to fit around the box, of course figuring enough for the seams. Allow three inches at the bottom end of the chintz, and stitch a hem for a draw-string. Slip the box in and draw the strings.

The bottom should draw up neatly just under the box, and the top well over the edge. One will find that with the heading added there is just enough room left to slip in the little garments easily, and yet they will not fall out, should the box be overturned.

The slip cover, being loose, can be easily laundered. The same idea would answer equally well as a wastepaper basket, carried out on larger scale.

COLORS IN THE HOME ROOMS

Many Tints to Pick From, but Harmony Should Be the Watchword for Cheerfulness.

"This is the blue room," so many people who are showing you their homes will say to you, "or this is the pink room," and the only thing you can think of is how could they think

It necessary to tell you, you couldn't possibly make a mistake, it certainly was blue—or pink, as the case may be. The trouble is that they do not realize that every room needs splashes of different colors to give it character. For example, one young woman wanted a rose bedroom. She bought white furniture and had the walls done in pale pink and white striped paper. There was a rose rug on the floor with a darker rose border, roses ran riot over the white curtains, the chairs were upholstered in the same rose cretonne, there was a rose lining under the lace bed cover, and a rose chiffon shade on the reading lamp at the head of the bed. Everything was lovely, and yet she didn't like it, but she didn't know why. Her first guest was an interior decorator and she was able to put her finger on the difficulty from the very start. She made her put the rose cretonne curtains in another room, and get a black and white striped material for the windows, hung a stunning black lacquered mirror over the low boy; change the lamp shade for a French blue one with rose-colored trimmings and put a few dashes of the French blue about in little accessories, a quill pen on the desk, a couple of candles on the dressing table, and it was perfect.

In a blue room, of course the blue predominates, but if there isn't anything else but blue it is terribly cold and gloomy. A very lovely blue living room has chintz over-curtains in blues, yellows and greens, there is a yellow shade on the floor lamp with blue bands, the rugs are in soft oriental colorings, and there is a great, glowing Maxfield Parrish print over the couch, which has a black cover and blue and yellow cushions.

HomeTown Helps
MUNICIPAL CONTROL OF TREES
Example Set by Newark, N. J., Might Well Be Copied Throughout the Country.

What municipal control of shade trees can do may best be illustrated by what it has done; and as we have first-hand knowledge of what it has done in Newark, says an exchange, we may be pardoned for citing the experience of that town—though it is our own. In 1904 Newark, acting under a state law, created a shade-tree commission. To this body (of three members) was committed the "exclusive and absolute control and power to plant, set out, maintain, protect and care for shade trees in any of the public highways of the municipality."

In 1905 a supplementary law transferred to the commission's control the care and improvement of "the public parks belonging to the municipality or any department in the government thereof." In 1906 the commission was empowered "to pass, enact, alter, amend and repeal ordinances for the protection, regulation and control of all shade trees" situated "in the public highways" of the city. And now, briefly, what has come of this?

It at once raised the status of the then existent street trees. These fine old stately growths which had come down to us out of the past from the fathers, but which for so long had been strangers to considerate treatment, were now seen to be set apart as objects of government's special care, as wards of a municipal department specially created to care for and protect them, and empowered to enforce considerate treatment of them.

Here was the germ of what has since unfolded into a public sentiment which had not theretofore existed—a new and unique sentiment in favor of the trees, that goes on increasing.

Co-operative Building.

The wasteful and unscientific American method of laying out all the streets and installing sewer, water and gas over a large area, and then selling off a lot at a time here and there over many years, leaving each owner or occupant continually uncertain as to the class of building or kind of neighbor who may later buy and build upon adjoining lots, is thus avoided. In addition, by planning and contracting for the construction at one time of a group of houses of from fifty to two hundred and fifty in number it is not only possible to obtain a more harmonious and attractive grouping of architectural designs, but it is possible to give each house certain benefits available from the location and disposition of neighboring dwellings, to avoid placing back doors in front of living room windows, and to give each owner all the benefits possible for group or co-operative buying.

Home Ownership Desired.

In planning for the "Own Your Own Home day," which will be a feature of the Y. M. C. A.'s National Thrift week in January, the desire for home ownership was strikingly demonstrated by the result of the questionnaire directed to the employers of a large manufacturing plant at Niagara Falls.

Of 1,000 workmen answering the question, "Would you like to buy a home on a long-time loan?" 480 were American, English, Canadian, Irish, Scotch and German. Of these, 473, or 97 per cent, answered affirmatively. Among 580 Poles, Italians and Spaniards only 151, or 26 per cent, expressed a desire for homes. A large percentage of the latter group of nationalities, however, planned a return to their native lands and the acquiring of property there.

COMBINING THE GROWERS

The proposal to form a national organization of farmers for the purpose of co-operative marketing of their products deserves a good deal of study. The possibilities of such an organization for good are tremendous. So are its possibilities for evil.

If it becomes a national marketing organization which eliminates the waste of over-production of some things while other things needed are under-produced, balancing production for the benefit of everybody; if it eliminates the speculation, substituting exact knowledge of conditions for the gambling bred of ignorance; if it eliminates the waste of faulty and chaotic distribution, it will be the biggest power for good this country has seen for a long while. It will, by these processes, insure adequate financial returns to the farmer. It will insure adequate supplies of food for the nation. It will insure ampler quantities, better quality and more variety in the larder of the humblest citizen.

But if it merely becomes a gigantic price-fixing institution, which holds up the price of wheat by throwing away wheat, or by reducing acreage to the point where the humblest citizen is always under-nourished; if it holds up the price of fruit by dumping carloads of fruit in the rivers rather than sell them to those who need them at a lower price, as has so often been done by small growers' associations; if, in short, it seeks to serve one class at the expense of others, it should die stillborn. The nation is not going to stand for that sort of thing much longer.

The plans as formulated by the leaders sound as if the organization were intended to stand in the former class. This is to be hoped. So managed, it should be the source of inestimable benefit to all classes.

THE SERVANTLESS HOME

With the increasing difficulty in obtaining servants, the best way to conduct the servantless household is a matter of continual discussion.

One expert in household economies thinks women could do the work of their homes with less strain if they would adopt a more businesslike attitude toward it. "Plan what to do," she suggests, "do it, forget it, and recreate." Also she urges that the woman in planning her days routine alternate work which requires sitting, standing and walking so far as possible, and that she adopt the plan of frequent short periods of rest such as are being found effective in factory work of many kinds.

For the family with children, she urges the elimination of all unnecessary labor, co-operation by all members of the family old enough to co-operate in the labor of the house, and simple and informal living.

"Study," she concludes, "to shorten every occupation connected with the upkeep of the home."

The suggestions are practical. They are carried out in many households. Certain it is that they follow the best ideas now practised by the successful business concern, and the housewife who wishes to run her business along the lines of least labor and greater efficiency will follow them.

band's neck and possibly slip some diamonds or jewelry into his pocket.

Jack in Garden.

Jack-in-the-Pulpit, by nature a hog-lover, is by no means as fastidious as the most of its clan, and a moist, slightly shaded spot in one corner of the yard, will supply its demands, says the American Forestry association of Washington, D. C. This plant is a near relative of the cultivated calla, with purple and white or green and white striped blossoms—usually called flowers. The real flowers, though, are deep in the center of this showy dress, at the base of the central spadix.

CHECKING UP OF ICE CREAM AND

LONG STRIKE COMES TO END

Winnipeg Post Office Employees Are Re-employed Under Conditions They Have Accepted.

The longest "strike" on record in Canada has just ended with the re-employing at the Winnipeg post office of carriers and clerks who joined with 25,000 other workers May 15, 1919, in the general strike that paralyzed this city for six weeks last summer.

Authorization to reinstate the strikers has been received from Ottawa, and they are being re-employed as vacancies occur.

One condition of return is to sign a pledge never to strike again for any reason whatever. In imposing the pledge the government takes the position that mail service is a public utility which never must be crippled by labor troubles.

IN OTHER FIELDS OF LABOR

Building operations in and about Pittsburgh were resumed for the first time in six weeks by the return of most of the 4,400 striking carpenters, who accepted a settlement at $1.20 and $1.25 an hour for an eight-hour day. The Building Construction Employers' association turned to the task of bringing about a settlement between the brick contractors and the bricklayers, the second largest union involved in the building trades strike.

Eleven woolen mills in eastern Connecticut are closed down, putting 4,000 hands out of work, according to a survey made by Deputy Federal Employment Supervisor Burke for Connecticut. The survey, which covers the eastern section, was made for the department of labor. Mr. Burke found that mills have been closed in Moosup, Central Village, Norwich, Halville and Putnam, and 1,778 women and 1,863 men have been rendered idle. Cancellation of orders is given as the cause.

Following the adjournment of the annual convention of the International Glass Bottle Blowers' association at Chattanooga, Tenn., it was announced that a demand for a 20 per cent increase in wages of all members except those employed in factories where high-grade bottles are blown, a 30 per cent raise being asked for this special class of workers, will be presented to the Atlantic City convention of employers the latter part of this month.

The plant of the Hartford City (Ind.) Paper company closed as a result of a strike, when workmen's demands for increases, ranging from 50 to 75 cents a day, were refused by the company. One hundred and fifty men quit work. The strikers also ask that the 10 per cent bonus be continued and that Harley McMakin and George Upton, officers in the Workmen's Protective association, who were discharged, be reinstated.

Working conditions in the seven paper mills of the Kimberly-Clark company in Wisconsin are regulated by the employees themselves through the newly organized mill council plan. Each mill is governed by representatives elected by the workers, who act with an equal number of men appointed by the management in all matters relating to working conditions, housing, recreation, wages and sanitation.

The average wages paid for farm help in Canada during the last year show considerable increase compared with the previous year. For Canada as a whole the wages per month paid during last summer for males, inclusive of board, was $78 and for females $43 per month. During 1918 the cost was $70 for males and $38 for females.

A general strike has been declared at Rio Tinto, Spain, and the mines are at a standstill. No disturbances are reported, but strong military forces have been drafted into the district. Workers at the naval yard at Ferrol have also struck. Both disputes are due to the refusal of the employers to concede further wage advances.

There has been little if any decrease in production by factories in Portland and throughout Oregon. In some lines the output has been increasing recently, with no prospect of a let-up. The one marked exception is the shipyards, most of which closed down, as their war contracts were completed or canceled.

A cloth factory gives the following figures: Increase in number of employees, 21 per cent; decrease in output, 14 per cent; increase in labor cost per yard of cloth, 40 per cent.

Employees of the Duluth Street Railway company, who went on strike demanding an increase in wages of 20 per cent, voted to return to work and at once began running cars.

The Massachusetts department of labor last year reported that the individual output of cripples was 25 per cent greater than that of able-bodied men.

Eight million workers are estimated to have participated in Great Britain's observance of May Day by taking the day off parading and making speeches. Nottingham (Eng.) lace makers to the number of four thousand went on strike for an increase of 40 per cent in wages and a 44-hour week.

Ship tonnage now building in the United Kingdom exceeds the amount under construction in the United States by 1,672,000 tons, according to returns published by Lloyd's register of shipping. The aggregate amount now under construction in Great Britain is 3,578,000 tons—the highest amount ever recorded.

There were 369 strikes in Kansas in thirty-two months. They cost labor in wages $1,000,000. They added only $788.94 to labor's wages and union members were compelled to pay $158,000 in strike benefits.

Prepared for the Worst. While passing through Zion City recently on a tour northwest, a woman passenger of our crowd who was holder than the rest of us, decided to test Zion City's law enforcement and proposed to "split on the street in the heart of the town." As she did so there came a shout from two young men standing on the curb: "Hey, there," and of course everyone of us thought, "the jig was up." We stopped, fully prepared for the worst until the young fellows came up to us on the run and said: "Will you give us a lift to the next burg?"—Chicago Tribune.

Pinoche as Sugar Substitute. Mexican residents of San Francisco, to combat the high cost of living, especially in regard to sugar, are importing pinoche from Mexico. It is brown in color and of rather low grade. The stuff is not considered sufficiently refined for use in tea or coffee, but is used in cooking. Inasmuch as the price is about a third of refined white sugar, there is considerable inducement to use it, even if the pinoche is not as nice as the regulation sugar. Pinoche has been imported into southern California for some time, but only lately has it been shipped to San Francisco.

Peculiar Amusement. Francis Bacon was so fond of fine clothes that he spent his odd time in trying to devise new styles and features of dress. During his life he made some 1,200 drawings of freakish costumes. When he could not get anybody to wear them, he hired a number of men to don the grotesque attire and to promenade the streets for his pleasure.

COUNCIL TO ACT ON GAS SITUATION

Special Meeting Called at City Hall
This Evening, Citizens are Interested

CITY PAY ROLLS ALSO COME UP

Last Statement from A. G. Whitney
Did Not Accept $2 Gas Minimum and $3 Rate Proposed

The city council will hold a special meeting this evening to act in the gas situation and to take up other business, the latter to include pay-rolls.

Matters have come to a head in Brainerd on the gas business. After the gas consumers meeting which favored a $2 minimum and a $3 rate had secured a like stand on the part of the council, and the same had been transmitted to A. G. Whitney of St. Cloud, president of the Brainerd Gas & Electric Co., there came Mr. Whitney's reply that he could not accept the $2 minimum and the $3 rate.

Brainerd has been without gas since the explosion in the plant which occurred early Thursday morning, August 12. The company first stated it was seeking to make repairs, a gas producer had been loaned them by the Northern Pacific railway, and gauges, etc., were soon to be received.

The letter of A. G. Whitney to the gas consumers committee, dated August 19, however stated very clearly that "we are writing our local superintendent to postpone further repairs and improvements until every detail has been definitely settled".

Mr. Whitney stated that it will take over $10,000 to put the plant in perfect working order, plus alone costing $450. A new boiler must also be added. In all his statements of losses Mr. Whitney has failed to say how much if any insurance he carried on his plant.

As to the matter of rates, Mr. Whitney's statement of August 19 declares for a net minimum of $3 and a net rate of $3.25 per thousand cubic feet.

His exact statement is: "These figures are net and the bills would necessarily have to be rendered at not less than $3.50 per thousand cubic feet with a discount of 25c per thousand cubic feet for the prompt payment of bills with a minimum of $3.25 per month, subject to a discount of 25c for the prompt payment of bills". In another paragraph he stated he would not object to accepting a net minimum bill of $2.50.

Mr. Whitney further elaborated his sliding scale, in reference to costs of coal, coke and oil.

"Personally," wrote Mr. Whitney, "I would much prefer selling this plant to the citizens of Brainerd and it might be well for the business men of your city to consider this in a serious way".

"We will sell you the property on the following basis: that you select an engineer, we will select one to represent the company, and these two can select a third, all three of these men to be high class gas engineers and after these men arrive at a valuation of this property, we will give you a liberal discount from that valuation.

"We will also make this same proposition to your city, if the city sees fit to buy it. There is one thing sure, the loss of the gas plant to your city is a serious one and it will probably mean that no private parties will ever again have the courage to enter the gas field in Brainerd".

No more money is to be spent at the plant until Mr. Whitney's proposition as embodied in his letter of August 19 to the gas consumers committee is acted on.

RESOLUTION

Whereas the City Council deems it necessary for the safety of the general public that the sidewalk abutting Lots numbered One (1) to Seven (7) inclusive, Block Eleven (11) in the Town (now city) of Brainerd, Crow Wing Minnesota be nine (9) feet in width.

Therefore Be It Resolved by the City Council of the said City of Brainerd that a concrete sidewalk nine feet wide be laid and constructed in front of and to the south of Lots numbered One (1) to Seven (7) inclusive, Block Eleven (11) in the Town of Brainerd according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County.

Adopted this 16th day of August, 1920.

J. H. STRICKLER,
President of the Council
Approved this 16th day of August, 1920.

F. E. LITTLE,
Mayor.

CHANGE IN TRAIN TIME ANNOUNCED

Afternoon Passenger Train for St. Paul No. 32, to Leave at 12:50
Instead of 12:30 P. M.

MORE CONVENIENT FOR CITY

News of Change Given Railway Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of Brainerd

A change in train time has been announced, effective Monday, August 23, and relating to Passenger Train No. 32 which now leaves for St. Paul at 12:30 p. m., and under new time will leave at 12:50 p. m.

News of the change was given to the railway committee of the Chamber of Commerce of which George D. LaBar is chairman. The latter has worked for some time to secure the change, which will make it much more convenient for Brainerd people and give a man a chance to eat his dinner at home before making the train.

The change was effected by simply cutting into the time the train spent at Little Falls.

The change in leaving time effected allows passengers from the north a longer stopover privilege in Brainerd, and so is appreciated by traveling men and general passengers.

"GUMPS" ARE COMING

New Musical Comedy Play Based on Cartoons Booked for the New Park Theatre

The "Gumps" are coming to Brainerd, the New Park theatre having booked this musical comedy attraction. A Dubuque, Iowa, daily paper has this to say of the "Gumps":

If the presidential election had been held at the Majestic theatre on Sunday Senator Harding would have swamped Governor Cox. During the course of "The Gumps," a cartoon musical comedy, an ensemble number captioned "The League of Nations" is reached when two stunningly gowned chorus girls appear, one with a Harding banner, the other with a Cox banner.

At both the matinee and evening performances Sunday, the applause and cheers for Harding drowned out the scattered hand-clapping for Cox. Up in the top gallery, which has always been considered a Democratic stronghold, there was a stampede for Harding.

It was the first time Dubuquers had an opportunity to publicly express their choice for president and it looked very much as though Harding is a 2 to 1 favorite.

Laugh at Andy

"The Gumps," with "Andy, Min. Uncle Ben and other characters of Sidney Smith's cartoons, frolicking about the stage, along with a bevy of pretty girls, scored the biggest kind of hit. The show is lavishly costumed and staged and there is plenty of singing, music and dancing.

James R. Fraser looks like the original Andy and is a good comedian. Russell Frost, as Mr. Shok who sells mountain canary stock, and George Jackson, in the role of a colored servant, also contribute copious quantities of laughter.

Other features of the show are the dancing of Jack Ward and Edna Northline and the singing of Kathryn Partell, prima donna. An eccentric dance by Andy and Min, the latter role which is capably filled by Rose Janse, is another hit.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

State Federation Council Called in Special Session Sunday, Aug. 22, at Minneapolis

The executive council of the State Federation of Labor, has been called in special session to meet Sunday, August 22, at Minneapolis, at 10:00 o'clock in the morning.

P. T. Brown, a vice-president of the sixth district, is a member of the executive council and will attend the meeting Sunday.

Marriage Licenses

Aug. 16—Eddie Ledoux and Matilda Blum.

Aug. 16—Edward David Frayer and Fern Leone Harrison.

Aug. 17—Walter L. Atwater and Hene Blaney.

Aug. 19—Frankie Bryant and Julia Parker.

Aug. 20—Richard D. Wagner and Nellie G. Coniff.

Bids Wanted

The Board of Directors of Rose Creamery Company will receive offers up to Sept. 1st, for the purchase of its Creamery Building in Section 7, Township 43, Range 36, and site. Address offers to Anton Weber, Brainerd, R. 1.

Value of Ton of Gold.

The mint value of gold does not vary, but remains constant at $20.67183462 per troy ounce, or $15,841.51 avoirdupois. Basing a calculation upon this value, a ton of gold would be equivalent to $902,928.

ANOTHER LARGE SUIT IS FILED

Morris Haley of Superior Through Attorney M. E. Ryan Sues Inland Steel Company

HE CLAIMS $380,000 DAMAGES

Case Seems Identical With the One Brought by Thomas Keating, Both to be Transferred

Morris Haley of Superior, Wis., has filed suit in Crow Wing county against the Inland Steel Co. for $380,000 through his attorney, M. E. Ryan of Brainerd. Haley's suit appears identical to that of Thomas Keating, formerly of Superior and Deerwood, and now a resident of Minneapolis.

Haley alleges he owns an undivided three-quarter interest in certain land on the Cuyuna iron range which was later leased to and mined by the Inland Steel Co., the latter terminating its lease October 9, 1919.

Haley's alleged damage consists in that certain low grade iron ore was not treated as provided in the lease, but delivered to third parties and the remainder wasted by dumping on other land and depositing sand and waste material on it. Royalties on ore claimed so wasted amount to $120,000. Claiming unskillful mining and pit work, damages for this are set at $250,000. Claiming removal of supports and tramways from the property, a further damage of $10,000 is claimed, making the total claim $380,000.

Both the Keating and Haley cases are to be transferred to the U. S. district court.

"SOONERS" FINED

Deputy Game Warden A. P. Cardie
Takes in Custody Two Men
Hunting Near Woodrow

The early bird sometimes catches the first worm, but in hunting it does not pay to be a "sooner."

Ed Nygaard and Alfred Satre, charged with hunting in the closed season, were brought before Judge Walter F. Wieland of the municipal court by Deputy Game Warden A. P. Cardie, were found guilty and were each fined $10 and costs of $1.50.

The two shotguns were confiscated by the game warden, who alleged he found the men hunting near a duck lake in the vicinity of Woodrow, eight miles east of Brainerd.

MODERN HURRY AND SCURRY

Menace in the Nervy-Racking Haste
Which Characterizes Present Generation Seen by Writer.

Where is the old leisure, the old jolt, the ancient habit of go as you please? asks the Outlook. The hurry and scurry that have become, unapologetically, so much a part of our national consciousness, particularly in large cities, are likely to wreck our nerves if we are not on our guard.

A friend of ours recently decided that what he needed more than anything else, after his buffeting with the portents of war, was the tonic of a roadside walk. People jockeyed at him—yes, positively jockeyed—when he made the suggestion; and in his pitiful search for companionship he could find no one who was willing to wander forth with him at a slow pace. "I will take you in my car," said one potential companion. "But I do not wish to ride," answered our friend; "I want to stretch my legs and feed and invite my soul in the way that men were intended to do since the beginning of time." "You will be run over," cautioned many. And, true enough—that proved to be his imminent danger when he set forth—alone.

Speed has become the national disease. There is nothing pleasanter than motoring under the right conditions; but seldom can one find a chauffeur who will glide through the green country at the proper gait. Always he must overtake the car just ahead of him—and there is always a car just ahead of him. Sudden turns in the road bring into immediate view other automobiles rushing ahead like mad; and it gets to be a game to catch up with them, blow one's horn and whip past, as if something were to be gained by the trick.

What does it all mean? Is it possible that our nerves are forever on edge and that we have to hurry in order not to break down? The clamor of the country on a week-end is hideous, and we think the silent hills must smile as they watch us pitiful humans rushing through the valleys, this way and that, mad to beat some one else to a goal that means nothing when we arrive there.

A return to that large leisure and ease which our forefathers knew would be a salutary thing for America. We are altogether too keen about getting nowhere in particular, and then equally keen to get away again instantly.

Unearth Tombstone of 1769.
The tombstone of "Johnathan, son of Robert and Esther Plume, deceased December 10, 1769," was unearthed by workmen excavating for a sewer connection in Brantford place, Newark. It is known that during Revolutionary days a cemetery was located in this vicinity. —New York Evening Mail.

BIGGEST COUNTY FAIR YET IS IN PROSPECT

(Pequot Review)

Plans of the county fair board, now rapidly materializing, indicate that the county fair this fall will be the biggest in the history of the county. Unusually good interest is being taken by the people of both Cass and Crow Wing counties, and the exhibit is expected to be large, in spite of rather disappointing conditions of weather.

Urged to Bring Exhibits

Farmers are urged to select exhibits and bring them in even though they are not quite so good as usual. They always show up much better in the exhibit hall than in the field.

Airplane and Free Attractions

An unusually good program of free attractions is to be put on. Arrangements are practically completed for an airplane again this year, and contracts have been closed for a high grade out-door performance by La-Mour Bros., aerial performers, who give their show high above the ground. Another free attraction will be the Plator's Crows. A merry-go-round has been arranged for.

Prominent Speakers

Speakers set red include Mayor Hodgson (Larry-Lo) of St. Paul, who will speak on the 16th, and State Auditor Prens, who will address the crowd Friday, the 17th.

Building Poultry House.

A contract was awarded T. A. Chapin a few days ago for the erection of a new poultry house. This building will be 39 by 49 feet in size and will house the exhibits of the Crow Wing County Poultry Assn., which will show this year in connection with the fair. The poultry premium list has been incorporated with the county fair list, which is expected from the printer within a few days. It offers some $600 in poultry premiums, in addition to increased premiums on most other exhibits.

All Stock Under Cover

Arrangements are being made to house the cattle and hogs under cover also this year, and to take especially good care of all stock entered.

Big Sport Program

Messrs. Slocum, Dudgeon, Schrader and Harris have been appointed a sports committee and are arranging for a big program of sports. Both Thursday and Friday will be big days. Two good ball games are to be arranged for and there will be races of all kinds both days.

Horseshoe Tournament

A feature of the sports program will be the horseshoe tournament to be staged during the fair for substantial prizes.

Wireless Station

The Boy and Girl Scouts of the county will have a prominent place on the grounds. A feature of the Boy Scout exhibit will be a fully equipped wireless station, where messages will be received and sent. The Scouts will also maintain a first aid station.

Health Clowns

Under the auspices of the Red Cross Health Clowns will be on the ground. The children will appreciate them and learn some valuable lessons. The Red Cross will also have a state nurse for the baby clinic to be held on the grounds.

Ill-Flated Orchid Hunters.

Not very long ago a New York man, traversing a Venezuelan forest on an exploring expedition, came upon a hut wherein were found three human skeletons and thousands of dead orchid plants. From between the ribs of one of the skeletons grew an orchid of rare beauty. The three unfortunate had evidently been murdered.

Short-Sighted Humanity.

We all dread a bodily paralysis and would make use of every contrivance to avoid it but none of us is troubled about a paralysis of the soul.—Epictetus

HAD MANY 'HOMES'

Woman School Teacher Tells of "Boarding 'Round."

Surely Plenty of Changes in Those Times for Those Who Had Charge of the Education of the Young —Enjoyed Life.

The first woman teacher who was ever "boarded round" is now living in one of the many almost-forgotten corners of New York. Her experience was gained 63 years ago in schoolhouse No. 240, on the plank road in Lake county, Ohio.

Her name, Frances L. Garside tells the New York Post, was Elizabeth Bartlett, her age seventeen, and it was her firm conviction that she was created to teach, a conviction that impressed the district board; the members appointed her, with many misgivings because of her age and her sex, to teach for the summer term. She changed her abiding place every Saturday as a part of the compensation for her services, the rest of which compensation was $1.50 a week.

A textbook of those days stated that the staple products of a certain section of Connecticut were school teachers and onions. "I just had to be a school teacher," she explains, "with this information staring me in the face in my own school days."

She taught three and a half months during that summer and never enjoyed life more. The coming of the teacher was a gala event, and never before nor since has she known tables that came so literally near groaning under the weight of the repasts. There was an endless profusion of jams and jellies; there were always fresh vegetables and meat, and the latter included game. Squirrels were plentiful, and very often there were "clouds of pigeons" in the sky, sounding like the roar of the sea. Hunters came from many miles around to shoot them. Pigeon pie was not a luxury for this little teacher, who was earning $1.50 a week; neither was pie of any kind, for they always had it for breakfast.

Her hostesses took care of her laundry and mending; and there was always a series of festivities for her, such as picnics and parties. She enjoyed a room by herself, and though she never saw any ice, or heard of such a thing, ice being one of the unknown luxuries of those days, she did not miss it, for there was always a springhouse, in which the abundance of milk and cream and butter was kept cool.

She tasted her first pork gravy while "boarding 'round," and had to watch to see what her hostess did with it before she put any on her own plate. One of her weekly visits was spent with a German family, and though it was midsummer, she had to sleep between feather beds.

When her summer term ended she came to New York, where for five years she taught in a private seminary. She did not like boarding in the seminary, and "living outside" consumed so much of her salary that she found after paying for board and room she had just 15 cents a week left. She supplemented this sum by taking private pupils.

Miss Bartlett changed her name to Grannis after teaching school five years, but her record of being the "first woman who" has been maintained in many and varied ways in the 63 years that have elapsed since she called her first class to order.

She was the first woman to own and publish and edit a religious publication. She was the first woman to make an appeal for the appointment of police matrons; it was ten years after her appeal was made that the police matron was appointed.

Going back to her childhood, she was the first child who ever taught in Sunday school, beginning when she was only eleven. Today she is the last of the famous survivors of the original woman's rights group that included Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Lucretia Mott.

Road Etiquette.

We were fairly burning up the roads of western Indiana. The fellow who was driving was rather hot-headed and gave the driver of another car a "piece of his mind" because he had paid little attention to our clamorous horn. A few miles on our car stopped dead for lack of gas. The driver and my father started on toward the nearest town on foot, but were soon overtaken by the man we had bawled out and asked by him to ride. Our driver was very polite and insisted on my father getting in, but declined to follow, being rather embarrassed.—Exchange.

Safeguarding Airmen.

Because of the possible disastrous failure of an airman's oxygen-supply apparatus at great altitudes, the United States bureau of standards has devised a reliable method of testing the equipment in the laboratory. All the conditions of high-altitude flights are accurately reproduced. Decreased pressure is obtained by inclosing the equipment in a bell jar connected to an air pump.

Airplanes for the Chinese.

The Chinese are acquiring a large number of airplanes which will be used by the government for various purposes, chiefly in carrying passengers and freight to and from some rich mining countries, which have been heretofore almost inaccessible.

Ray Chapman, Killed by Pitched Ball and Grief-Stricken New York Twirler

His skull fractured by a ball pitched by Carl Mays of the New York American League team, Ray Chapman, star shortstop of the Cleveland Indians, died in a New York hospital. He lived only several hours after an operation which it was hoped would save his life. Although entirely innocent of blame for the accident, Mays is unnerved and inconsolable. It is feared that the fatal accident has so un-strung him that he will not be able to pitch again this season and may perhaps kill his effectiveness for good. Chapman, who was born in McHenry, Ky., in 1891, had been a member of the Cleveland club since August 20, 1912. He was considered one of the best shortstops in the game. Last year he married Miss Katherine Daly of Cleveland, daughter of M. B. Daly, president of the East Ohio Gas Co.

In Peril

By VICTOR REDCLIFFE

(© 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

It was a novel yet perilous position, that in which Merrill Page found himself at Lone Prairie. The leading lawyers of a New Mexico border city had sent him to the settlement designated secretly, to visit a certain Lemuel Ward whom he would find slowly dying, take his statement under oath and quietly return with the evidence that would adjust a disputed title to a ranch.

Jem Dymond was the acknowledged leader of an unruly, desperate group at Lone Prairie, and Page was eyed with suspicion when he registered at the one rough-and-ready tavern of the place. He located a little hut where Lemuel Ward was lying in a bed from which he was destined never to arise. Page made sure that he was not observed as he dodged in through the open doorway.

"I am glad you have come," said Ward, as soon as Page revealed his identity. "At times the house has been under the surveillance of Jem Dymond, and I have been practically a prisoner since I threatened to get to the city and see the lawyers."

"I am to take your deposition, as I understand it," said Page.

"Yes, and a deed I've made out, and all there is to do is to sign and have you attach your notarial seal," and the invalid drew some papers from under his pillow. "You risk a good deal coming here, and if Dymond suspected it, you'd never get back to civilization. Should I die without sending the lawyers those documents, the land would go to him."

The papers were signed and Page was ready to depart, when his host, chancing to glance through the open window, half rose up. "Go the rear way, and quickly," he uttered in concern. "Three men mounted—see them? Dymond and two others. They have followed you here. Don't go back to the hotel. Get out of the district with those precious papers at once."

Page recognized his peril. He sped through a rear doorway. There was a creek lined with willows a short distance away near a railroad spur. The line ran twenty miles to a point to the north, used only to ship horses to a waterway by which they were transported to sales markets.

Page made a dash for the light timber as a shout told him that the three men had espied him. There was a call to halt followed by a shot, as he reached some cars on a siding. He planned to conceal himself among the willows, but stumbled, his ankle turned, he limped a few steps and then, unable to proceed further, pulled himself up through the half-open doorway of the nearest car and lay inert and helpless.

He saw the three men rushing along, scanning the willow space. Then there was a jar, a locomotive had backed and coupled on the cars. A woman's form showed moving about within the car. She was attired in frontier riding habit, was exquisitely molded as to form, with a face fresh and beautiful as befitting a girl of the prairie and forest.

"Who are you?" she interrogated, curiosity rather than fear in tone and manner, and by her confidence inspiring glance influenced Page to reveal his entire story.

"You did well to seek this refuge from Jem Dymond," said Bertha Wilton. "It is on his account that we are leaving Lone Prairie. He robbed my father, who is moving by wagon to Wolverton. I am going ahead in the box car to deliver Wildfire to a circus buyer who is to pay us a large price," and the speaker indicated a superb black steed at the other end of the car. "We make only one stop between here and Wolverton. That is at Elkton. Keep out of sight to the terminus and you will get clear of Dymond's territory."

Page appreciated his environment as the train proceeded slowly. There was a long stop at Elkton. Two rough-looking, sinister men came along the raised freight platform. Miss Wilton caught an echo of what they were talking about.

"The Dymond crew are on your trail," she announced to Page. "Dymond has telephoned ahead to search the car, suspecting that you are aboard. Two of his men are on the way to the local justice to have you sent back on a trumped-up charge."

"You must not get into trouble on my behalf," began Page.

"You must do as I direct you," spoke Bertha definitely. "Wildfire!"

She had the horse freed from halter in a trice, got him to the platform and helped Page from the car. "Those men are returning," she said with a glance back of them. "It will be a swift ride, but Wildfire will not fail us. Take my rifle and shoot to hit if we are pursued."

It was a dash for liberty that Merrill Page never forgot. Superb horsewoman that she was Bertha Wilton outdistanced the two men who attempted to overtake them, and safe in Wolverton she took Page to the home of friends for care for his injured limb.

During a week of rest and convalescence Merrill Page saw Bertha Wilton daily. What could come of it but love? And when he conveyed the Ward papers to his employers, he made the announcement that he was engaged to the brave young girl who had prevented them from falling into the hands of the Lone Prairie plotters.

Ell Terry's Clocks Lusted.

The first American clockmaker was Ell Terry. "If you had been upon a dusty country road in Connecticut about the year 1800 you might have seen a plainly dressed young man come riding with a clock strapped to each side of his saddle and a third fastened crosswise behind him." That was the way Ell Terry sold his clocks, and some of the original clocks are still running in the very farmhouses where they have ticked off the minutes of American history since the days of Adams and Jefferson.

Dear Industry.

With the retirement from business of George Messmann the business of whalebone cutting in this country terminated, remarks the New York Times. At one time this was a thriving and important industry, but of late years, what with changing fashions, the introduction of substitutes for "bone" and the frank use of metal in its place as distinguished from the substitution of some similar appearing substance, the whalebone trade has fallen upon evil times. Also the catch has grown constantly smaller and smaller.

Marriages at Gretna Green.

Although it is no longer possible for any English couple, by simply crossing the border in Scotland, to be wed "off hand," as was once the case, Gretna Green marriages are not altogether unknown even in these days. Now and again, a couple for romantic reasons elect to be married at the old Gretna Green smithy by means of a simple declaration and the joining of hands; but as ever since 1856 the law has been that one of the contracting parties must be actually resident in Scotland for three full weeks before the ceremony, such weddings are not very often runaway ones. Provided the above condition is fulfilled, however, such a marriage, even if a runaway one, is perfectly legal, though in a sense irregular. Apart from the cost of the railway journey to Gretna Green station, the expense is small. In pre-war days the cost was about $10, which included an excellent tea to the bride, bridegroom and witnesses and refreshments for the "priest." The "priest," by the way is the local blacksmith, James Dixon, a descendant of the original "Blacksmith of Gretna Green," celebrated in song and story.

Ride in Flaming Plane.

A hair-raising demonstration of the efficacy of new air craft fireproofing compound was staged at Atlantic City, N. J., a few weeks ago by two American airmen, late of the Lafayette escadrille, reports Popular Mechanics magazine, in an illustrated article.

Each of the men first donned a special flying suit and metal helmet, both of which had been painted with the compound. Mechanics then sprayed each with gasoline. Meanwhile the plane, which also had been painted with the preparation, was similarly drenched with gasoline. Pilot and passenger climbed into their cockpits. Roaring forward over the airfield, then, like a flaming, smoking comet, the plane rose into the air, and for five minutes horrified the spectators. At the end of this time the flames died out and the plane was brought to earth. Careful inspection having been made, airmen and airplane were found to be unharmed except for a coating of soot.

Make Address Sure.

When wrapping magazines for the mail, the important thing is to make sure that the magazine and its wrapper will not part company. Lay a cord lengthwise inside the magazine, and after sealing and addressing the wrapper, tie the cord once the long way and once around the middle of the roll.

Seaweed Largest Plants.

The largest plants in the world are seaweed. One tropical variety is known which, when it reaches its full development, is at least 600 feet in length.

Azores' Population.

The population of the Azores is about 245,000, the number of its inhabitants having changed but little in the last century, and, if anything, having diminished.

North East West South

Supposing that, beginning tomorrow, all the newspapers are discontinued. What a furore the public would make. "News! News! We must have news or we will be no better off than the ancients." "All right, suppose we give them news but cut out the advertisements."

Then we would discover that politics, the doings of society, notices of fires, accidents, deaths, scandals, sports, the activities of the police and criminals add little or nothing to the real comfort and happiness of this greatest age in the world's history.

What geni are they that have crowded the last fifty years with so much of advantage to humans? They are legion in number, but not least among them is Advertising.

Our day is the greatest time the world has seen because we have more to be happy with, better things, greater variety, greater comforts gathered together from the North, East, West and South for our choosing and selection. Look about you. This is the day of better food, better homes, better clothing, better babies, better health, better business. And advertising is the instrument that makes these better things possible.

Advertising is the NEWS of all the looms, of all the furnaces, of all the laboratories, of all the shops, of all the stores, of all the world and all working for you.

Because of advertising, luxuries and necessities that once cost a king's ransom are yours at little prices. Advertising pits merchant against merchant, artisan against artisan, producer against producer, for your benefit, forcing out the best there is in everything and telling the world about it.

Read advertising. Keep abreast of today. Advertising furnishes you with facts and opportunities that you would otherwise never know.
